Avg. Spend: ■200 avg · 1–2x/week

#	Pain Point	Severity	Freq.	MVP Solution
1	Unhygienic tea preparation	■ 10/10	Daily	Open-view kitchen + FSSAI cert. displayed
2	No comfortable seating	■ 9/10	Daily	Designed sit-down zones (core MVP feature)
3	Cafés too expensive	■ 9/10	Daily	■35–90 price band — non-negotiable
4	Inconsistent tea quality	■ 8/10	Often	3 signature teas with documented SOP recipe
5	No WiFi / charging	■ 7/10	Weekly	Free WiFi + 2 power outlets per seating zone
6	No menu variety	■ 7/10	Often	MVP: 5 teas + 3 snacks — curated not wide
7	Rushed / unfriendly staff	■ 6/10	Often	2-day staff training on service SOPs
8	No loyalty / rewards	■ 5/10	Occas.	Paper stamp card (MVP) → digital later
9	Can't find / discover café	■ 6/10	Day 1+	Zomato + GMaps live before opening day
10	No family-specific seating	■ 5/10	Weekend	1 large table for groups — simple fix

MVP Focus: Solve pains 1–4 perfectly before addressing 5–10. Pain #1–3 are the reason customers will choose you over a stall. Pain #4 is what makes them return. Everything else is a retention layer.

AWARE	CONSIDER	VISIT	EXPERIENCE	RETAIN	ADVOCATE

KEY BUYING TRIGGERS — WHAT GETS CUSTOMERS THROUGH THE DOOR

Trigger	Segment	MVP Activation Tactic
Post-class / exam stress escape	Students	Campus flyers + student 10% off card
WFH break — need change of scene	Professionals	Morning slot: 9–11 AM promo combo
Weekend family outing	Families	Family combo board; kids' snack on menu
First date / casual meetup	Youth 18–28	Cozy corner seating + aesthetic décor
Chai + snack craving	All	Strategic corner location + aroma marketing
After-office wind-down	Professionals	Happy Hour: 5–7 PM discount
Friend / colleague recommendation	All	Referral card: bring a friend, get free chai

KEY OBJECTIONS & HOW THE MVP OVERCOMES THEM

Objection	Root Fear	MVP Counter
"Is it hygienic?"	Past bad experience	Open kitchen glass wall + FSSAI cert at entry
"Is it overpriced for just chai?"	Value perception	■35 entry item on menu; value combo boards
"I have my regular stall"	Habit / inertia	Free chai voucher for first visit
"I've never heard of this place"	Awareness gap	Zomato + GMaps live Day 1; 50-review sprint
"Will quality be consistent?"	Trust in new brand	SOP recipe card visible; weekly blind taste test
"Is parking available / accessible?"	Accessibility	Location scouting must include parking check

WHAT SHOULD BE BUILT FIRST?

MVP Component	Why It's Core	Success Signal
3 Signature Teas (SOP)	Quality + consistency = #1 return driver	Repeat customer in Week 1
Clean, Comfortable Seating	Core promise — differentiates from stalls	Avg dwell time > 30 min
Visible FSSAI Certification	Trust badge — removes biggest objection	0 hygiene complaints
■35–90 Price Band	Daily affordability — drives frequency	Avg 80+ customers/day (Month 2)
Zomato + Google Maps Listing	Discovery — 60%+ customers find via search	50 reviews in 30 days
Paper Stamp Loyalty Card	Low-cost retention from Day 1	30% redemption rate in Month 2

WHAT SHOULD NOT BE BUILT IN MVP?

Skip This	Why	When to Add
Mobile App / Digital Loyalty	Premature tech spend before PMF	Month 6+ post validation
Wide Menu (20+ items)	Complexity kills consistency in early ops	Add 2 items/month after launch
Multiple Outlets / Franchise	Don't scale before the core works	Year 2 after replicable model
Premium Interior Design	ROI unclear before footfall data	Upgrade after 3 months of data
Delivery / Cloud Kitchen	Dine-in must validate first	Month 6+ if demand exists
Corporate Catering	Operations need to stabilise first	Month 4+ as add-on revenue

MUST HAVE	SHOULD HAVE	COULD HAVE	WON'T HAVE (MVP Phase)
• 3 core signature teas with documented SOP	• Free WiFi + minimum 4 power outlets	• 5+ additional tea variants post-Month 1	• Mobile app or digital loyalty platform
• Clean, hygienic kitchen — FSSAI certified	• Paper stamp loyalty card system	• Seasonal menu items (winter special, etc.)	• Franchise or second outlet expansion
• 20+ comfortable seats in designated zones	• Instagram account + 10 launch photos	• WhatsApp broadcast list for regulars	• Cloud kitchen / delivery integration
• ■35–90 price range maintained strictly	• Family-friendly large table seating	• Student discount card partnership	• Corporate subscription or catering
• Trained, friendly front-of-house staff	• Daily specials chalkboard / menu board	• Weekend events / chai tasting sessions	• Private label tea blending product line
• Zomato + Google Maps listing (live Day 1)	• Contactless payment (UPI / card)	• Digital menu QR code at tables	• Premium fit-out / renovation (Phase 2)
• Basic snack menu (2–3 items minimum)	• Opening/closing hygiene checklist system	• Packaging for takeaway / delivery (Month 6)	• VC funding pitch or external capital raise

PRICING HYPOTHESIS — VALIDATED PRICE ARCHITECTURE

Category	Item Examples	Price Range	Rationale
Entry / Daily Tea	Cutting chai, Masala chai, Adrak	■25–40	Must beat stall perception; daily habit
Signature Teas	Rose, Green, Kashmiri Kahwa	■55–85	Core margin product; differentiator
Specialty / Seasonal	Tulsi immunity, Chocolate chai	■80–110	Premium upsell; 20% customers
Snacks — Basic	Samosa, Kachori, Bread Pakora	■20–40	Combo driver; margin booster
Snacks — Premium	Paneer sandwich, Maggi, Waffle	■60–100	Upsell to professionals & families
Combos	Chai + Snack bundle	■65–120	Increases avg. ticket by 35–45%
Loyalty / Pass	5-visit stamp = free chai	N/A (reward)	Retention driver from Day 1

Pricing Principle: The ■35–90 band is your moat. Never let the average ticket exceed ■100 in Year 1 — it will erode frequency and your daily-visit positioning. Grow revenue through combos and frequency, not price increases.
